Spyderco's philosophy is simple. From our smallest Ladybug to our large Military model, Spyderco consistently delivers reliable high performance. Period.

The Round Hole

The Spyderco Trademark Round Hole™ is a symbol of quality but also adds an important function: One-hand opening. Settle your thumb over the hole and open the knife blade by applying pressure. Because its round your thumb pad rotates for enhanced control and fluid opening. One hand operation allows you to open your knife, make the cut, close the folder and replace it in your pocket. This works even when hands are wet, oily or gloved.

The Spyderco CLIPIT

The term CLIPIT applies to all Spyderco knives with a pocket clip, about 95% of our product line. We were the first company to install clothing clips on our knives in 1981. The rest of the knife industry followed suit. The clip securely attaches the knife inside the edge of your pocket near-at-hand for quick and simple retrieval. You can also 'clip it' to a handbag, use it as a money clip or attach it to outdoor gear and attire.

Why Teeth?

Spyderco is synonymous with serrations because ours work as intended. Most others don't. Our serration pattern features one large curve followed by two small curves that we call a SpyderEdge™. Serrations actually increase the amount of overall cutting edge length. The teeth initiate the cut letting the sharpened curved recesses continue cutting after the teeth penetrate. Since the tips of the teeth do the hard work, the inside curves stay sharp longer. This translates into enhanced cutting power and long lasting edge retention. Serrations work well on aggressive cutting chores like cardboard, rope, webbing and fibrous material. Fine or intricate cutting jobs, like whittling and caping, often call for a PlainEdge™ blade. This is why we offer models in either a fully SpyderEdge™ or PlainEdge™ configuration and many in a combination of both.

Spyderco Tekno-junkies

Quality and innovation are Spyderco's highest priority. Our R&D lab researchers sink years of testing and engineering into each model. To maintain our high quality standards (and continually raise the bar) we test, retest and compile technical data on blade steels, lock system strength, and high performance materials. Blade steels: Our steels are subjected to hardness, corrosion and edge retention studies. Lock Strength: Every Spyderco model meets and (often surpasses) our set standards for lock strength. High Performance Materials: Advances in technology offer the knife industry limitless materials to enhance performance. We test new manufacturing techniques and materials that offer superior longevity, chemical resistance, lightweight strength and visual appeal.

Warranty and Repair

When you purchase a Spyderco knife you are buying twenty-five years experience in manufacturing quality products. But we are human beings! If properly cared for your knife will last a lifetime (this does not include abuse, misuse, loss or theft). If you experience problems with any function of your CLIPIT, we want to know. Please call, email or write us at 1-800-525-7770, custsvc@spyderco.com, 20011 Golden Gate Canyon Rd, Golden, CO 80403. We're available to answer your questions Monday through Friday from 8:00-5:00 Mountain Standard Time.

Where's It From?

Spyderco manufactures knives in our Golden, Colorado plant and in several premier facilities in Seki City, Japan. Our Golden site is growing. Its close proximity to the R&D team allows development, testing and the manufacture of high performance products in one place, in less time. Whether the model you choose is manufactured in Golden or Seki City it meets Spyderco's level of quality craftsmanship and elite performance.

Custom Knife Designs

Owning custom made knives has long been an exclusive luxury. Handmade pieces carry the personality and innovation of the maker. They also carry the price tag. In 1990 we joined forces with a prominent custom knifemaker. The rest is history. By uniting custom designs with Spyderco features we offer new advances to the cutlery industry. It's the best of both worlds.
